Luna Rivera Studio.

Santiago Luna (Bogotá,1994) is a Colombian designer whose work has reflected on the emotional relationships that people create with objects through their sensitivity, functionality, and memorability; his goal is to change Colombia's perception through design.

Graduated from the Universidad de Los Andes (2018) with an emphasis on product design, Master in Product Design (2019) with honors from Domus Academy. Winner of several awards in workshops and design marathons that led him to design for companies such as Google, Driade, Mepra, Carlo Cracco, Per Dormire, A.D.I.C.I.

At the end of his studies, He decided to settle in Milano, where he began to work alongside one of the great masters of Italian design, Mario Bellini. After this experience, He has had the opportunity to collaborate and be under the guidance of great international designers and architects such as Camilo Ayala García Ph.D., Sergio Vergara, Egidio Panzera and OTTO studio, founded by the renowned architect and designer Paola Navone and lead by Gian Paolo Venier. This has given him the chance to work for companies such as House of AC, Zientte, A.G.P, Omnidecor, Scrigno, COMO Group and Cedric Grolet among others.

Nowadays He is a visiting professor at Domus Academy and works as a designer between Colombia, India, and Italy.
